

Time Warner Cable Arena

Arena title	Time Warner Cable Arena
Capacity	20,200
About	Time Warner Cable Arena (originally Charlotte Bobcats Arena and commonly The Hive, Time Warner Arena, or The Cable Box), is an entertainment and sports venue, located in center city Charlotte, North Carolina. It is owned by the city of Charlotte, and operated by the Charlotte Hornets of the NBA. It made its grand opening in October 2005 as the Charlotte Bobcats Arena, with a concert by the Rolling Stones and hosted its first Bobcats game on November 5, 2005. The arena's current center-hung video screen, known as "Hornets TV", measures 16 feet by 28 feet and features a wraparound mural of uptown Charlotte.
Logo	 The logo for Time Warner Cable Arena features a stylized blue eye icon on the left, composed of three concentric, curved lines. To the right of the icon, the words "Time Warner Cable Arena" are stacked vertically in a blue, sans-serif font.
Photo	 An aerial photograph of the Time Warner Cable Arena in Charlotte, North Carolina. The arena is a large, modern building with a prominent, curved, white roof. It is surrounded by other urban buildings, parking lots, and streets. The surrounding area includes a mix of commercial and residential structures, with a large parking lot in the foreground.